

350 °C

= 1.564 μm

This scanning electron micrograph (SEM) shows a surface with a granular, textured morphology. The surface is composed of numerous small, rounded, and irregularly shaped particles or grains. A scale bar is present in the lower right quadrant, indicating a length of 1.564 μm. The temperature of the sample is noted as 350 °C in the upper right corner.