This includes having a valid legal basis for such use (for example, the person’s consent, if required).
- CERN reserves the right, without notice or liability, and at its sole discretion, to restrict or remove a user’s access or remove any uploaded content, where it considers that use of CDS interferes with its operations or violates these Terms and Conditions, and/or applicable laws.
- CERN bases CDS on leading technologies and architectures, operated within the limits of its financial and human resources and made available by CERN on an “as is” and “best efforts” basis. Access to, availability and use of CDS is not guaranteed nor can be expected.
